

SECRET COUNT ON IDLENESS BECAME KNOWN

Declared Nearly Eleven Million Jobless Last September

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Semi-official estimates on unemployment, which have been in use for some time by the government, but were kept a secret until today, declare that 10,915,000 persons were jobless last September. They also say that 5,000,000 persons, formerly jobless, have found work since March 1933.

The figures were originally compiled for President Roosevelt's committee on economic security by Robert R. Nathan, its consultant, on unemployment statistics. Since that committee completed its work last spring he has kept them current unofficially.

Many federal agencies have used the estimates and they have been highly credited by government economists. But they have never before been disclosed because of the administration's reluctance to give official standing to any unemployment figures.

Although 5,000,000 persons had found work by September according to the estimate, the unemployment rolls had been cut little more than 4,000,000 because nearly a million new recruits were added to the employable population between March 1933, and September.

Expert Reduction

Nathan estimated the peak of unemployment at 15,071,000 in March, 1933. His final figure for October has not been determined, but preliminary calculations indicate it will show a substantial reduction from September's figure of 10,915,000.

The estimates showed that in September the bulk of unemployment was in the manufacturing, building, transportation, wholesale and retail and service industries.

Nathan estimated that in that month there were 2,756,000 unemployed in manufacturing; 1,741,000 in the building industry; 832,000 in the steam railroads; 979,000 in the wholesale and retail trades; and 663,000 in domestic and personal services other than laundries and cleaning and dyeing establishments.

The only industry which had no unemployment, according to the estimates, was road building where Nathan calculates there was an excessive over normal employment of 94,000 because of government spending.

DEMOCRATS TO FRAME SLATE THIS WEEKEND?

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The state house today buzzed with rumors that Illinois Democrats will meet in Chicago this week end to discuss selection of their candidate for governor next year.

Administration spokesmen and leading legislators would not confirm the reports, however, and Chicago legislators disclaimed knowledge of such a meeting. Similar reports have circulated here for several weeks.

It was reported Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago has held several conferences with Democratic leaders, but it could not be learned whether discussions centered about whether Governor Horner would be refused organization support for re-nomination.

Horner planned to go to Chicago this week end to hear President Roosevelt speak Monday at a meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

One state house rumor said that Kelly and Patrick Nash, National Democratic committee man, planned to call in a group of downstate Democratic leaders in an attempt to agree on a candidate.

Administration spokesmen expressed confidence, however, that the Chicagoans eventually would accept Horner as the nominee. The governor has openly expressed his intention of running again, but Chicago Democrats have been reluctant to promise him any support.

Relief Rents Put Up to Gov. Horner

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The matter of eviction of relief clients who do not pay their rent was passed on to Gov. Henry Horner today by the Chicago Real Estate Board.

"We're stymied by Judge Bonelli's action in refusing to evict renters who won't pay," John C. Bowers, president of the board, said. "The relief commission pays everyone else—the butcher, the grocer, the coal merchant—but leaves us out."

Bowers insisted the landlords were not trying to inflict hardships on relief clients or WPA workers, but sought only their "just dues."

BECAUSE OF ZIPPO

Edenton, N. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Jago Tsjurjan, who had a dog named Zippo, started by auto for Norfolk, Va.

Zippo, in the rear seat, sat on a pin and bounced onto the steering wheel. Tsjurjan let go of the wheel. The car careened into a light pole.

Edenton's street lights went out; telephone service to Norfolk was cut off. Zippo was spanked. Mayor Squires assessed Tsjurjan $60 damages. The car was wrecked.

Monsignor Smith wrote there was "not one slightest reason" to

G. O. P. MEMBERS FORCE HOUSE TO INSURANCE VOTE

Bills Taken from Committee After Republican Charges

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The house today withdrew all unemployment insurance bills from the judiciary committee and placed them on the calendar for consideration. The vote on the motion to suspend the rules and bring out the measures was 74 to 6.

The fight to get consideration of the bills was led by R. G. Soderstrom, Sreator Republican, president of the state federation of labor, who charged the Democratic majority had not "acted in good faith." He was supported by minority leader LeRoy M. Green of Rockford.

"Labor was never permitted to see the unemployment insurance bills before they were presented here in printed form," Soderstrom said.

"Even so, labor agreed to support them. Now the majority is running out on the administration bill. If that isn't deception, what is?"

Benjamin Adamowski, Chicago, the majority leader, denied there had been any deception.

"I'll help get this bill out of committee and then I'll help defeat it," he said. "I heard enough in the public hearings on this bill to vote against it."

Green said he agreed with Soderstrom that the majority had "run out on the bill."

"There are serious weaknesses in the measure, but it should be placed on the calendar," he said. "If it is abandoned it will be the will of the majority that does it."

The house then amended the bill by providing that county welfare boards would be appointed by the state welfare department from nomination by county court judges.

This was in accordance with a report by Le Witt Billman, secretary of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and Montgomery S. Winning, Assistant Attorney General, who conferred with the social security board in Washington.

Senate Heard Report.

The senate in the meantime heard Billman's report, given to the house yesterday, that such a change must be made to win federal approval of the Illinois program.

After discussion, the upper house recessed until 3 P. M.

For the first time in the special session, after the third time since he was elected Speaker, John P. Devine turned his gavel over to another member and personally led the floor fight for the administration.

He spoke on behalf of a motion to reconsider previous amendments to the bill, which provided appointment of the county board by county judges.

Devine urged representatives to pass the program on a "humanitarian basis" instead of a political one.

100,000 Get Pensions.

"According to my figures, there are 100,000 persons in Illinois who will get pensions. That means $36,000,000 a year. The state can not carry that load. We must pass a bill that will unquestionably meet federal approval and bring us federal assistance."

Following his speech, the motion to reconsider was adopted on a roll call vote of 72 to 56. The voting was on a strictly Republican-Democrat split.

Elmer Schnackenberg of Chicago, Reed Cutler of Lewistown and LeRoy M. Green of Rockford, the stalwarts of the Republican side, led the unsuccessful fight to defeat the motion.

The amendment itself was easily carried on a voice vote.

Finally Arrived

In December, 1934, Dr. A. F. Moore mailed a newspaper to friends in Forrester, just 26 miles north of here, which contained an article he thought would be of interest to them.

The newspaper arrived Tuesday, just one year later. The recipients were able to decipher a few scribbling notes of the wrapper which indicated the newspaper had lain in the files of a Chicago newspaper office for months before it was discovered that it had become mixed with articles in the office library and should have reached its destination months before.

Accordingly, some obliging employee sent the newspaper on the final stage of its Odyssey.

MINERS BATTLE FLOOD IN JOHN-SON CITY MINES

Underground Waters Constitute Threat to City's Future

Johnston City, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Mine officials expressed belief today that miners had won their desperate fight against underground flood waters threatening property, lives and this city's future as a coal mining center.

"The battle is not won but it looks like we have things under control," said Howard Lewis, assistant to the superintendent of the Old Ben mines, after a new shift of workers went into Old Ben No. 18 at midnight.

Two hundred men—170 of them underground—worked steadily through the night putting up temporary dams to hold back the rising waters until a permanent concrete fill can be constructed.

The dams are about 300 yards from the old fill through which it would be difficult to reach the shaft in safety if the old fill gave way. The water threatening the mine is from abandoned mines south of the city.

Water in these old workings is 50 to 100 feet higher than Old Ben No. 18.

Business was at a standstill yesterday and people gathered at the mine throughout the night to hear reports on the work underground.

Roy Lizon, former mayor and mine manager, declared the problem the most serious Johnston City had ever faced.

The Old Ben mine employs 850 men, the Franco mine 550. Old Ben is valued at about $300,000 and Franco at about $200,000.

Lewis came up from the mine at 8 A. M. and announced he believed the danger had passed. On duty for 47 hours, supervising the fight against the rising water, Lewis said he was going to "get some sleep."

Vanderbilt Child's Case to High Court

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The bitter legal battle of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt to regain custody of her 12-year-old daughter, Gloria, heiress to a $4,000,000 fortune, appeared headed today for the highest court in the land.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's attorneys announced her decision to appeal to the United States Supreme court last night after the state's highest court refused to hear her appeal from a lower court ruling which denied her guardianship of the child.

The case will be taken to the Supreme court, it was announced, on an application for a writ of habeas corpus based on a claim that the child is being deprived of liberty without due process of law.

For about a year little Gloria has been in the custody of her aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, under an order of a lower court which headed Mrs. Vanderbilt's witnesses accuse Mrs. Vanderbilt of improprieties and of being unfit to care for the child.

Duplicate Income Tax Returns Must be Filed This Year

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Treasury officials are drafting regulations to require the filing of duplicate income tax returns on 1935 incomes.

The extra copy of a taxpayer's returns will be made available to local officials charged with administration of state and local tax laws. Authority for this requirement was inserted in last session's tax law after repeal of the "pink slip" publicity provision.

Treasury officials said the regulations were in a formative stage. They were unable to say whether the duplicate would be "sworn" copy or not, but said it would be a true one.

Under present plans, both copies will be returned to district collectors who will keep one copy for the convenience of local authorities.

OFFICERS MET DEATH ON INSPECTION TRIP

Tulsa, Okla., Shooting Called Worse Than Murder by Atty.

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—A federal revenue agent, Louis Pappan, 42, and George Stewart, 39, former Tulsa detective captain, were shot to death at a swanky night club early today after they had been thrown from the place by two "bouncers."

After a preliminary investigation County Attorney Holly Anderson declared the shooting was "worse than murder."

"I haven't found out exactly what is behind all this and I may not be able to make a case but I certainly am going to raise hell," said Anderson.

The two "bouncers," Tyree Parks and G. R. McCullough, declared Pappan and Stewart had attempted a holdup. The men were arrested and Roy Staley, manager of the club, was placed in jail later in the day.

Harry Brill, Pappan's immediate superior, said the agent's work was "such that it might take him anywhere at any time."

Inspecting Licenses

Vernon Houston, a taxicab driver, who took Pappan and his companion to the club, said they had visited two other places during the night and had inspected beer licenses.

Describing Pappan as an officer with an excellent record, Brill said he did not know whether the agent was making a required check of the Sheridan club at the time of the affray. Stewart was known as a police raider, who once served a sentence himself for liquor transportation.

"I cannot understand the situation," said Brill.

Anderson refused to elaborate his theories on the case and would not say against whom he planned to file charges.

Authorities said no witnesses to the shooting had been found. Guests at the club said they knew nothing of the affray until officers arrived and arrested the "bouncers."

Asked who fired the fatal shots, both of the men replied:

"I don't know."

Sheriff Garland Marra reported that one unfired cartridge was found in Park's pistol, and that one shell was missing from McCullough's weapon.

Employee's Story

McCullough told reporters that the first he knew of the affair was when Manager Staley, told him the club was being held up.

"I got my gun and went out the back way," he said. "I went around the place and came in through the check room. Stewart was standing with his back to me, holding his gun on Park."

"I hit him with my pistol and then reached over and tapped Pappan as he held his gun on Jimmy Burkhead."

"Park took Stewart's pistol as he fell and I don't know what happened to Pappan's gun, whether someone got it or not."

"We put them both outside and pretty soon the shooting began," Burkhead is a club employee.

The Sheridan club was closed for several weeks last summer after the county's attorney's office threatened to ask an injunction against the club as a gambling place.

Steel Production Still Expanding

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Steel production continues to expand in spite of the absence of a broad advance in the prices of finished products, Iron Age stated today in its weekly review. Ingot production was placed at 57 per cent of capacity compared with 56 per cent in the previous week.

This output level, Iron Age declared, is the highest since the third week in June 1934, when production was sharply stimulated by forward covering prior to an increase in code prices.

"Anticipatory buying," the review commented "may have helped swell current tonnage though the fact that operations have continued to expand following reaffirmation of prices suggests that protective commitments were not heavy."

Dixon Couple Married 55 Years

MR. AND MRS. BEN F. SNYDER

Who will quietly observe their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary tomorrow at their home, 417 East Third street. This venerable couple were united in marriage, Dec. 5, 1885 at 9 o'clock in the morning at the parsonage of St. Patrick's Catholic church by Rev. Fr. Thomas P. Hodnett. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Penrose, both now deceased. Mrs. Snyder was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McDonald. At the time of their marriage, Mr. Snyder was picking corn on the farm of the late Timothy Duffy, who conducted a hotel near the North Western depot for several years. Two days after the wedding Mr. Snyder entered the employ of the Grand Detour plow company where he was employed for years. Later he engaged in the confectionery and luncheonette business, both he and his good wife being excellent caterers.

of me. Young son twenty-one all I have left. We live now in two furnished rooms. One year ago fell while working at house-cleaning, trying to make a living.

"Now my right hand is helpless. Loss of two bones. Can't use it. Had to learn to write left-handed. Young son goes out a lot. Sees other homes. Girl he goes with has well-to-do people. Hates to come home. "Fights with older brother on help to keep me. They went to court but they showed court they were in a lot of debt. Court told the younger son to carry on. He doesn't eat with me on Sundays. I sit alone.

"Am so lonely, wishing I was dead. Is there any way for me yet? I am forty-five. Weigh one hundred pounds. Can't work anymore. Am in the way. Hope you can put in a cheerful word some day."

Here is the very stuff of life, one of many such letters that reach me. It reads like a dispatch from a battlefield, and that is what it is. Its short, gray sentences tell a hard, sad story.

Just a tiny woman, lonely and discouraged, disabled and feeling she is unwanted—yet what heroism in face of heavy odds! No soldier, going over the top, ever had more grit, pluck and daring!

Yet she does not imagine she has done anything unusual. She just kept on keeping on, patiently, in spite of death, poverty, and a drab and dismal lot, without training, without help, or hope.

If those sons are worth their salt they will not let such a brave little mother be lonely, much less in want.

All of us ought to put in a cheerful word every day, remembering how many walking near us carry loads heavy and hard to bear.

1-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper.
Thoroughly wash beans, add water and soak 4 hours or longer. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Melt pork in fry pan, add and brown onions and celery. Add with rest of ingredients to bean mixture. Simmer 1 hour. If soup seems too thick, add 2 cups water and simmer 15 minutes longer.

Browned Sausages
6 link sausages
4 eggs
1-8 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon celery salt
1-8 teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons milk

Place sausages in shallow pan. Heat slowly and cook until brown. Turn several times. They will require about 15 minutes to cook. Drain off fat as soon as it collects. Mix rest of ingredients and beat 2 minutes. Heat 2 tablespoons sausage fat in another frying pan and, when hot, add egg mixture. Cook slowly and stir constantly until mixture becomes thick and creamy. Serve poured around sausages.

If the family does not like food repetition, try a simple meal (ham and eggs usually appeal) on the day following a festive affair.

WHAT GREAT BANKERS?

Feeling the weight of public criticism of administration spending and the piling of billion upon billion of indebtedness, President Roosevelt sought in his Atlanta speech to justify the huge indebtedness by saying that "many of the great bankers of the United States," who had "flocked to Washington" in 1933, told him "the country could safely stand a national debt of between 52 and 70 billion dollars."

Then he pictured himself as the great conservative who would not risk the credit of the country to that extent. He would only go to—whatever the debt finally rises to before the spending orgy has been finished.

As the president is a resident of that state that is the business address of "many great bankers," it was natural that newspaper reporters should seek out these men to find which ones were ready to send this country on a spending spree up to 70 billions of dollars.

"The great bankers" remain unidentified.

One banker expressed himself thus:
"I never heard of anybody making or agreeing to such a statement. The outside figure I ever heard mentioned as a figure for public debt which might be safely supported was 45 billion, but that was mentioned in private conversation and was not in any formal speech or discussion. It is just one of those wild statements the president makes from time to time."

On every hand New York bankers said that no responsible banker was known to have made any such assertion.

Inasmuch as the United States government has acquired an interest in a large number of banks of the country and has a strangle hold on many others, none of the bankers interviewed permitted his name to be used.

The issue has reached a stage where somebody's name should be given to the public. The president of the United States should not undertake to build himself up and to make scapegoats of bankers in the matter of a terrible public indebtedness.

It will be noted that the president doesn't pretend that he was acting upon the advice of the "great bankers" in question. He shows you a picture of himself scorning the idea that such a debt would be incurred by him. He would save the people from the "great bankers" who would so involve them, and would not allow the figure to go above empty-ump billions, whatever the figure eventually may be.

The huge public debt is an issue. It was not necessary for the president to present the issue in the form in which he did at Atlanta. Since he did present it so, it is not a trifling matter. If he is undertaking to leave an impression that he was influenced by "great bankers" who told him the country safely could support an indebtedness of 52 to 70 billions of dollars, he should name them.

This is not a private matter between Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New York banker. This is a public matter concerning the weight of indebtedness created by foolish waste. By adroit use of words, either the president is undertaking to make it appear that he is acting upon advice of numerous "great bankers" or would make it appear that no matter how wasteful a spender he is, the "great bankers" of the country would have had him be much worse.

In view of what has taken place since the president delivered this address, it is incumbent upon him to give the country the names of these "great bankers" or be under suspicion of playing fast and loose with the debt issue.

Presumption is that the president of the United States is advised on such subjects by his secretary of the treasury, a person known to the people. He is not barred, however, from seeking advice wherever he may choose. He may take it or not. All of this is not a matter of controversy, but when the president of the United States makes such a statement as he made at Atlanta, the public is entitled to a bill of particulars.

PROGRESS ON BIG MIRROR

Scientists announce that the new 200-inch mirror, which was molded a year ago at Corning, N. Y., for astronomical purposes, has cooled sufficiently for inspection, which shows it apparently without flaw. This reflector when mounted in a telescope in California, will enable star gazers to see better and bigger stars, universes and galaxies.

Astronomers will not begin gazing into space with the new mirror immediately, however. We are told five more years will be required to polish, shape and silver the reflector. The telescope has not been built, and the observatory has not been built. Even the plans are not drawn.

There is no particular hurry, it would seem. The mirror will reach so far into space that scientists will not see things as they are, but as they were millions, hundreds of millions and perhaps billions of years ago. For astronomical purposes light, which travels at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, is a lagard. When astronomers look in the direction of a star they do not see the object itself, but the light which it has been shedding, and owing to the unimaginable distances of these heavenly bodies their light now reaching us started in our direction ages ago.

The scientist Einstein reasons that space is curved, whatever that means, and that if a man had a telescope powerful enough, and nothing obstructed his view, he could peer into the distance and see the back of his own neck if he could wait long enough for the light, shed by his neck, to get around the circle. This is a hard theory for common people to understand, and even the 200-inch mirror is not expected to help Mr. Einstein see the back of his neck. But it might provide a clue to whether the theory is based on fact, or whether Mr. Einstein merely had an off day.

Another theory, generally discussed among astronomers, is that the universe (meaning, in this sense, everything in sight) is exploding. They have seen enough evidence to believe that heavenly bodies are moving outward from somewhere or another with incredible speed.

and pretty soon everything will be so far away from everything else that there will be practically nothing left. They word it this way: Space is annihilating matter. This is an alarming thought. The new telescope is expected to give some evidence as to whether some one ran off the track.

THE TWINKLES
Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The long vine ladder reached up to a tree. Said Windy, "What we'll do is jump off to the ground, now, and just look around a bit."

"We never have been here before, and I just wonder what's in store. Right now, I'm tired, from climbing."

Just then they heard a long, loud, "Who-o-o." The next thing that the Twinkles knew, an owl appeared up in a tree. It shouted, "Welcome, tot!"

"Wee visitors are welcome here and there is not a thing to fear. If you seek fun, upon this land you will find lots and lots."

"Where are we?" said wee Dotty. "Gee, the whole place is a mystery. The trees are funny shaped. I'll bet that we're in crazy land."

The owl replied, "Oh, no! You're wrong. In crazy land I don't belong. What made you think of such a thing, I cannot understand."

"I am a wise old owl, you see, and if you all will hark to me, I'll tell you how to find the man who guards this real strange place."

"You'll find he is a friendly sort. He'll gladly help you have some sport. The moment you appear, he'll have a smile upon his face."

"Oh, tell us quickly! What a thrill!" said Copsy. "Well, walk over the hill," said the owl, "and very soon you'll reach a monstrous wall."

"The guard, I mentioned will be there. He's very fat and has

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks lunk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel 'up and up'. Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

GRID CROWDS INCREASED IN 1935 CAMPAIGN

Several Big Teams Drew 300,000 And Over This Fall

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The combination of more games and more "big" games brought football attendance back to something like the good old days in the 1935 season.

That the gain—averaging about 10 per cent on the nation-wide front of 47 major colleges covered in the annual Associated Press poll—depended largely on the team's records was shown by the leading figures.

Notre Dame, with its best team in five years, was the biggest drawing card with an attendance total of 483,108 for nine games. Navy led the east with 399,000 fans watching a fine squad play nine teams. It was the first time on record the Midshipmen had outdrawn Army, which attracted 354,000.

The biggest attendance figures and the biggest gains were registered in the Eastern sector, where increases as high as 40 per cent were reported. In all, 29 of the 47 colleges reported improved attendance and several more said they were "about even" with 1934. A few preferred to keep their records secret.

Drew Over 300,000

Besides the service schools, Yale, Pennsylvania and Princeton were above the 300,000 mark in the east. The undefeated Tigers drew 306,000 at nine games in comparison to last year's mark of 175,000 in eight contests.

The co-champions of the Big Ten, Ohio State and Minnesota, shared honors as drawing cards. The Buckeyes, who had 81,018 fans at their thrilling game with Notre Dame, led with a total of 359,219 against Minnesota's 345,500.

California and Stanford, as usual, were rival attractions on the Pacific coast. The Golden Bears attracted 394,000 fans at ten games, and the Indians in eight games drew 314,000.

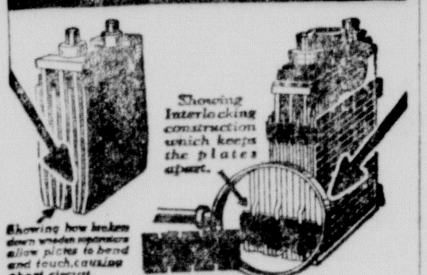

Tulane topped the South with 175,000 in ten games, but Duke and North Carolina, who set a Dixie record of 46,800 at their game at Durham Nov. 16, both were above the 100,000 mark.

The Southern Methodist-Texas Christian rivalry for Southwest conference honors and the Rose Bowl invitation, brought out 32,000, the second largest crowd in conference history. Their totals so far, each with eleven games down and one to go, are 166,800 for S. M. U. and 121,570 for T. C. U.

Mexican customs regulations require that United States motorists make a report covering the make, serial number and size of each tire on their cars while traveling in that country. All casinos, even if blown out, must be checked out when leaving the country, or else duty must be paid.

Sales at the fall auto show recently held in New York City showed an increase of approximately 60 per cent over the exhibition held last winter.

Brothers, Put On Spot, Made Good as Coaches

Kansas City, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Faurot Brothers looked back with satisfaction today upon the football season they started on two different kinds of coaching "spots."

Brother Don was placed on the spot when he succeeded Frank Cardo at the University of Missouri. The Tigers had won only two games in three years, and they hadn't administered a Big Six conference defeat since 1932.

Brother Fred found himself on an even tougher spot when he took his brother's place at the Kirkville, Mo., Teachers College. There Don's teams had rolled up an impressive record of 26 straight victories and won three successive Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association championships.

The Tigers finished in a tie for last place this season, but they had an armful of glory in three ties with conference teams and three victories over non-circuit opponents.

Over at Kirkville, Fred Faurot's teachers lost only one game, but it stopped the winning streak at 27 and blunted chances of surpassing the 29-straight record set by Michigan.

Kirkville fans, however, weren't downhearted. They had expected another championship and got it.

BEIERS QUINT I. N. U. CAPTURE OPENING TILTS

Hilliker, Flanagan, Boyd Have Cage Eyes Focused

Beiers and I. N. U. basketball quints got away to a flying start in the first games of Industrial league play Tuesday night, the defending champions ringing up a convincing 40-24 victory over the Knacks Leaders and the I. N. U. defeating Ashton 30-12 at the Dixon high gymnasium.

High scoring aces for the Beiers were Al Boyd and Earl Flanagan, forwards with 13 points apiece. Flanagan got five goals and three free shots and Boyd totalled three goals and seven charity tosses. For the Knacks, McIntyre with eight points was the best tallymaker.

In the I. N. U.-Ashton encounter Scoop Hilliker led his quint to victory by annexing 14 points on five goals and four gift throws. Ashton was helpless from the opening gun.

Entry List Grows For Santa Anita $100,000 Handicap

Los Angeles, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eighty-one thoroughbreds, 11 more than were nominated for the inaugural, constituted the list for the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap today and all the expected entrants were not in.

With six more horses named yesterday, the value of the race was increased to $108,100 as compared with $108,000 a year ago today, indicating this world's richest stake would have a higher valuation to the winners than in the spring of 1935. The event will be staged Feb. 22.

Because of inadequate funds, Brundage said, the men's ski team had to be divided into three sections according to ability. There was money enough for the first group's expenses. For the second group there was enough to pay part of the expenses. There was no money for the third section.

"As a result," Brundage said, "all except one athlete selected have completed, by personal activity, the fund needed for their expenses. There are 15 on the team."

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, said today United States athletes favor going to 1936 Olympics at Berlin even if they must pay their own expenses.

Despite opposition by groups urging non-participation because of alleged Nazi religious and racial discrimination, 138 out of 139 athletes who have written to him favored taking part, Brundage said.

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—With the December 10 deadline less than a week away, there have been no bids for the Boston Braves... Beantown papers say Charles Francis Adams is making plans to take over the club again... May have to get Mike Jacobs up there yet... (Mike now is promoting bridge tournaments to keep busy—goodness, Gertrude)... Is Sonny Workman, ace jockey, about to quit the C. V. Whitney stable?

Stanford didn't give up hopes of getting Princeton until the last minute... Even had a scout at the Princeton-Yale game... New York football writers have organized with the idea of improving press box conditions in the East... Well, there is plenty to be done... New Orleans racing is off to a swell start at the fair grounds.

The Yankee board of strategy—Col. Jake Ruppert, Ed Barrow and Joe McCarthy—has gone into a huddle at French Lick... Although the six-day race is only three days old, Al Letourner, the favorite, has been fined three times for stalling... You should see the dirty looks he gives the judges as he flies past... Al Simmons has saved $200,000 of his baseball earnings... So what if he doesn't hit around .350 every year?

Glad we don't have to choose between Riley Smith of Alabama and Sam Baugh of Texas Christian for an All-American quarter... Hymie Caplan, at 35, manages 11 fighters—New York's last stable... The late Leo P. Flynn was the last manager to handle boxers in such wholesale lots... The pro footballers are smart... They develop future customers by admitting school kids free... 25,000 will be the guests of the Dodgers Sunday...

BRUINS TRACE SCORING ILLS TO FORWARDS

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins, trailing in the American division of the National Hockey league, can trace their lack of scoring ability to the dearth of experienced forwards.

A perusal of the roster of the Boston club, which has won but two games while losing five, shows that only Cooney Weiland, Dit Clapper and Red Beattie have been tested in the ice wars.

Among the youngsters, however, are Max Kaminsky and Charlie Sands, who teamed to score the only tally for the Bruins last night as they went down before the Chicago Blackhawks—3-1.

During the fourth minute of play Kaminsky passed to Sands and the latter fired a high angle shot that went over the shoulder of Mike Karakas, goalie.

The Hawks' high scoring array turned on the heat and in 20 seconds had knotted the count. Romnes converting a pass from Paul Thompson. The same combination scored again, in the second period and the final tally was chalked up by March, after taking a pass from Morenz, before the second period ended.

The Montreal Maroons drew up even with the Canadiens in their intra-city series with a 3-2 verdict in a thrill-packed game. The Maroons came from behind in the last period.

Minnesota Boxer Checkmated From Victory By Law

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 4.—(AP)—North Dakota's new boxing law, which given the secretary of the state boxing commission the final word in awarding a decision, today had deprived Wen Lambert of Proctor, Minn., of a victory over Rusty Gramling of Bismarck, N. D.

Lambert, 143, got the nod from two judges and the referee in last night's six-round bout here, but Jimmie Moran, commission secretary, ruled that Gramling, 140, had earned a draw.

New York.—The New York state and Illinois athletic commissions, which don't concur with the National Boxing association in recognizing Freddie Miller of Cincinnati as world featherweight champion, have agreed on a plan to pick a titleholder.

They will hold a double barreled elimination tourney with the winner to meet Baby Arizmendi of Mexico for the title. Eastern entries are Mike Belloise of New York and Claude Varner of Boston. The westerners are Everett Rightmire of Sioux City, Iowa, and Winfred (Moon) Mullins of Vincennes, Ind.

Chicago—Jack West of the University of North Dakota has revived the idea of a 12-man football team on which the extra man would direct the team on offense but not take part in the play. West maintains it would save the troubles of setting teams which lose their quarterbacks by injuries and improve the game by having one man carry out the coach's ideas in calling plays.

Nori's total surpasses the 96 points of Stanley Williams college, who has been credited with second place nationally. Nori averaged 11.2 points per game.

Texas Christian Gets Sugar Bowl Bid To Play L.S.U.

New Orleans, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Football teams of Louisiana State and Texas Christian University will match strength in the Sugar Bowl classic here New Year's Day.

The selection of L. S. U. Southeastern conference champion, and T. C. U., runner-up for the Southwestern championship, was announced last night by Warren Miller, president of the Mid-Winter Sports Association, which sponsors the game.

Although both teams have lost one game each, they have been rated among the "first five" squads of the country.

L. S. U. dropped the season's opener to Rice, 10 to 7, and T. C. U. lost last Saturday to Southern Methodist University, 20 to 14, in a thriller which brought S. M. U. an invitation to play in the Rose Bowl game.

In the first Sugar Bowl game, last year, Tulane triumphed over Temple 20-14.

WALES' BULL IS AWARDED RIBBON AT STOCK SHOW

Prince is Keenly Interested in Breeding of Fine Cattle

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Munching hay at the International Live Stock Exposition is one red Short-horn bull whose doings are news in Great Britain's imperial household.

Had "Bapton Orator" taken a grand champion's ribbon the word would have been flashed by cable to its royal owner, the Prince of Wales.

The "Orator," whose sire sold last year for $16,000, is one of His Royal Highness's best Scotch Short-horns, from the Prince's "E. P. Ranch" in the foothills near High-river, Alberta.

The next report from Manager W. L. Carlyle can carry the word that the "Orator" won a blue ribbon.

Carlyle, formerly Professor Carlyle of the University of Wisconsin, furnishes the royal rancher with quarterly accounts of how his Short-horns, his Hampshire and Suffolk sheep and his Clydesdale draft horses, fare.

The Prince is no dilettante stockman, said Carlyle, but is very keenly interested. It is a breeding farm. Wales maintains 23 miles from High River, Alberta, and not a dude ranch.

"His directions were to set up a practical stock farm, and that's what we've done," said the manager. "The object is to furnish pure bred breeding stock to western Canada."

The "E. P. Ranch" with some 115 sheep, 150 cattle and 60 horses, is a relatively small one of 4,000 acres. Unlike its larger neighbors, one of 76,000 acres and another of 42,000, it does not produce beef cattle for the commercial market.

Judges of the strictly professional field of "carriage steers," beef judged first on foot and then after slaughter yesterday awarded first prize to 17-year-old Marie Krejci of Edwardsville, Ill.

Second prize went to Lawrence Morgan, 14, of Alton, Ill., who learned his business as a 4-H club member.

Milestones of American Genius

ROBERT FULTON

WHEN the steamboat "Clermont" saucily puffed her way up the Hudson River in 1807, the first of the great transit inventions which marked the progress of the American nation turned from dream into fact. Robert Fulton, its inventor, thus won himself a place of honor among the men and women remembered for their contributions to the nation.

Robert Fulton was born in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, in 1765. His road to invention, in the domain of art, apprenticed to a jeweler as a boy, he developed such marked talent for drawing that he decided to become a painter. This ambition took him to England, where he studied under the renowned Benjamin West, and attained some standing as a painter.

In England a meeting with James Watts, the inventor of the steam engine, suddenly diverted Fulton's attention to engineering.

ing. Art languished while he experimented with the newly discovered principles of steam power. Submarine boats, it is interesting to note, were among the first objects of his research both in England and France.

On returning to the United States, he found financial backing and built the steamboat now forever linked with his name. Americans who view memorials celebrating the deeds of our national heroes, or of their private family heroes, rarely realize that Robert Fulton has contributed even in this field. He invented a machine for sawing and polishing marble, the principles of which are still in use.

He died in New York, in 1815, and was buried in historic Trinity Churchyard, now in the heart of the financial district. Nearly a century later the American Society of Mechanical Engineers marked his last resting place with the monument shown in the sketch.

"IT'S NICE TO LOOK FORWARD TO COMFORTABLE DRIVING THIS WINTER

—that's why we bought our new Ford V-8 now instead of waiting until Spring."

NEITHER cold nor slush affects the baked enamel finish of the 1936 Ford V-8. Its direct-driven ignition starts the car quickly even on sub-zero mornings. A new Ford needs no tedious "breaking in"—Drive it 60 miles an hour the day you get it, if you want to.

And this year, because the 1936 Ford V-8 came out earlier, you make a triple saving by buying this fall:—You get a bigger allowance on your old car now than next spring. You can drive your new Ford this winter, and it will still be worth as much next year as if you waited until spring to buy it. . . . And you avoid the winter conditioning costs—for battery, tires, brakes, winter lubricants and engine tune-up—you would otherwise have to pay on your old car.

Come in and see the 1936 Ford V-8 today. Let us estimate the saving you can make by driving a comfortable new Ford V-8 through the winter.

Illinois Sanitary—

Central Illinois Medical Association at the Nachusa Tavern, Tuesday night.

100 Doctors Attend Approximately 100 doctors attended the morning and afternoon sessions at the Dixon State Hospital, their wives enjoying the hospitality of Dixon physicians at a tea given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McNichols, East Chamberlain street during the afternoon. At the business meetings noted specialists in their various fields from all over northern Illinois gave brief talks and opened discussions.

Dr. Percy is a member of the Gorham Memorial Institute, is attending surgeon of the cancer service at Los Angeles General hospital and is a recognized authority on cancer and its treatment. He gave an extremely vivid illustrated lecture in which an actual operation for removal of a cancerous breast was filmed in moving pictures demonstrating each step in the operation from the incision to the weaving of the sutures or final stitches closing the wound.

In an interview prior to his lecture Dr. Percy explained that cautery excisions and removal of cancerous tissue is a process several thousand years old that has recently been rediscovered. He advocates the use of heat applied by the "hot knife" rather than the "cold knife" for the arresting of cancer.

Against Euthanasia
"Since Vesalius' day in the fifteenth century, cautery excisions have been known to medical science. It is especially significant that in hot countries where other fevers have built up bodily immunity in the population, cancer does not exist. Where tropical diseases have been eradicated or lessened, cancer has proportionately increased, indicating these diseases built up bodily immunity to cancer. The Ethiopians practiced cautery centuries ago but used the "cold knife". A knife heated to a temperature of 1200 to 1500 degrees Fahrenheit is the proper instrument for a cautery excision."

Dr. Percy was approached on the subject of euthanasia or "mercy death" a subject of potent interest at present. In reply to the query he said:

"It is unfair to ask doctors, who have troubles enough, to also act as executioners. I believe that while there is life there is hope. In many cases a patient who was given only a few months to live,
has outlived his healthy physician.
I do not favor euthanasia as a practice. It is the doctor's ideal to preserve life, not to extinguish it."

Hits Syphilis
Dr. Jirka spoke on the "Experience of the Public Health Department." He said that since its origin, it has experienced and weathered successfully three major epidemics, encephalitis lethargica or sleeping sickness, amebiasis, a disease uncommon in the temperate zone, and poliomyelitis, also known as infantile paralysis.

He classed general ill health in two divisions, acute and chronic.
Among acute diseases he placed tuberculosis and syphilis, and among the chronic ailments, rheumatism, neuritis, arthritis and cancer. Tuberculosis, he declared, is increasing despite the decreasing mortality rate. Syphilis, he claimed, costs Illinois $500,000 annually to care for 1200 insane cases in state institutions due to syphilis. The disease, he said, causes fifty per cent of the blindness in Illinois, while a million more cases of it exist than of tuberculosis in the United States.

Many Suffer
One-third of the Illinois population over 40 years of age suffer from heart cases, rheumatism, cancer or arthritis, Dr. Jirka said. He warned of "encroachers" on the medical profession who, he said, talk health remedies but never practiced medicine. He rapped the medical advisers connected with relief agencies, who, he attested, for the sake of economy advise those seeking medical relief to apply home remedies of which they know little, or turn to other unreliable sources for aid.

"The reason many cults thrive on cancer patients is because the medical profession shies from surgical practice in an attempt to reduce that dreaded disease," concluded Dr. Jirka.

Officers for 1936 were elected at the dinner Tuesday night and the location of the 1936 meeting was set at Streator. New officers are:
President, H. C. Hill, Streator, first vice-president and G. A. Dicus, second vice-president.

Censor's Scissors Never Were Wielded On Rogers' Pictures, Will Hays Recalls

The censor's scissors never had to be wielded on a movie of Will Rogers, Will Hays, czar of the motion picture industry recalled recently in paying tribute to the high caliber of Rogers' films.

"Will never would make a movie that parents didn't want their children to see," said Hays, recalling an incident two days before Rogers started his fatal airplane trip.

"We talked of a story which a friend of Rogers had suggested that he use for his next picture.
The friend wanted Rogers to take the lead in the movie, but Rogers told me he was going to reject the story."

"I know it is a fine play by a great writer," said Will, "but it is for grownups. It will make a fine picture, but when I play in a picture, folks always bring their children to see it. Most of the story is great, but there is one scene in it than people wouldn't want their children to see. You can't leave that scene out without spoiling the story. It should not be left out, but I just don't want to play in any picture where folks may think they shouldn't have brought their children."

With the announcement that handicapped children will be the principal beneficiaries of the Will Rogers Memorial Fund, there is a renewed interest in the opportunity of Will Rogers friends to participate in a living, continuing memoral to perpetuate his friendliness to mankind.

Take or send your subscription to any bank or bring it or send it to this office. It is the aim of the Commission to have millions of Will Rogers friends participate with a contribution. It is not the size of the subscription but the act itself that is important.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After the death of her parents, lovely DANA WESTBROOK comes from abroad to make her home with a grandmother she has never seen.

Dana's half-sister, NANCY
WALLACE, is successful over Dana's coming.

Dana's grandmother hopes her young granddaughter will make a brilliant marriage. She is elated when rich RONALD MOORE becomes interested in Dana.

Lonely Nancy masks her love for Ronald behind an antagonistic attitude.

Meanwhile, Dana and DR.
SCOTT STANLEY become attracted to each other. PAULA LONG, desperately in love with Scott,
watches anxiously as his interest in Dana decays.

Dana is caught in a storm and takes refuge in Scott's cottage.
When the hurricane is over, Scott takes her home. They are seen by Ronald Moore, who misunderstands the direction of their feelings.
Dana, Dana is perplexed by Ronald's attitude.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

RONNIE was offended; there was no doubt about it. But why?
Dana searched her brain, could not find an explanation. She told herself it was nothing to worry over.
Ronnie would come back.

He did.

Saturday afternoon the big roadster halted before the Cameron house and Ronnie got out. He went up the steps, rang the bell.

Dana, meeting him in the hallway, saw a Ronnie with haunted eyes, mouth and jaw set firmly.
"Let's drive," he said slowly.

"All right," Dana had missed Ronnie. She had missed driving in his car, the gay roadster she usually found herself with when they set out together. It had been dreadfully dull all week at home, de-pressingly dull with her grandmother's speculative eyes upon her,
no place to go to escape.

"But I'll have to change into something else," she told him. The frock she was wearing was a simple house dress.

Ronnie put a hand on her arm.
"Please come as you are," he said
earnestly.

She hesitated. Then something in his face decided her. They stepped into the roadster and Dana sat quietly as the car gathered speed. Presently the city was behind.

It was lovely in the country. In her enjoyment of the picturesque landscape Dana almost forgot that Ronnie was being horribly rude;
sitting stiff and silent at the wheel.

Small homes flashed by in irregular sequences, some with an acre of green about them, others with only a patch of garden that seemed untouched by the fallish tinge to the air. The air was fresh, invigorating. Dana caught the scent of new-cut grass, drank it in deeply.

It was such an awful storm," Dana explained, "and of course I thought I could get a taxi later."

"I suppose you didn't think of calling me?"

"No, Ronnie, I didn't."

Dana was becoming angry, and was suddenly ashamed. She was being put on the defensive, as though she had something to hide, something ugly.

"Please," she said with spirit,
"let's not talk about it any more."
"Very well," Ronnie agreed. He put the gears in reverse. The return drive was a breathtaking experience. The speedometer touched 50, 60, 70.

Only when Ronnie brought the car to a stop by the worn curb-stone in front of her grandmother's home did Dana speak.
Then she said, "Goodbye, Ronnie."

"Goodbye, Dana," Ronnie answered. There was a note of finality in his tone.

Dana went soberly to her room.
She felt very lonely. Ronnie's devotion had become an accepted fact; now she had lost it.

Why couldn't Ronnie see that the same storm that had kept his crowd dancing all night at the Breckinridges had kept her away from home, too?

If she had been caught somewhere with an unattractive man, it probably wouldn't have made any difference to him. Ronnie was just being hateful and unreasonable because Scott was so attractive.

And then, there was Scott's voice over the telephone, scattering the gloom and bringing the sunshine back to life.

Dana answered soberly, and Scott said quickly, "Your voice sounds like the little girl who stole the jam and ate the cookies and got both a spanking and a tummyache."

Dana laughed. "The ache's in a different region."

"Don't tell me your heart's affected!"

"Not romantically."

Scott said quickly, "Anything I can do?"

How rapidly Scott's mind worked. In another moment Dana felt he would guess that she and Ronnie had quarreled. He might also suspect the reason.

"It's a growing pain," Dana said lightly. "The kind you have when you put away your dolls and tackle algebra. Or when you put away a silly notion you've had that things would work out the way you wanted them to because you've found there's a bigger scheme that hasn't any place for such ideas at all."

"From all this philosophizing," Scott said wisely, "I gather you are in the well-known dumps.
Would a nice juicy steak and a ride in a car that's come forth from the shop help rout the blue devils?"

"I think they would work miracles," said Dana. She felt again that rush of exhilaration that Scott's voice always brought to her.

"I'll race you," Scott said.
Dana dressed quickly, was adding the final dab of powder to her nose when the bell rang. She rushed down the stairs to answer it.

She encountered Grandmother
Cameron mounting the stairs wearily. Dana had a sudden feeling of pity for her. How dreadful to be old, to be coming up the stairs slowly, instead of rushing down to some new adventure!

Dana felt her pulse quicken.
She had the feeling that she was on the threshold of something new and thrilling.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN

Midweek service tonight at 7:30.
These services were begun so auspiciously last Wednesday night.
The hope is that all take advantage of the good beginning which has been made. The way to form a good habit is to continue—repeat the act again and again. The service tonight has been prepared with the same care as that last Wednesday night. Minds are to be lead nearer God for the purpose of barring out the world at least for half an hour. Let it be known that not only members are asked to come but friends and strangers are welcome.

PROCEEDS OF
CONCERT TIED
UP BY A SUIT

Sterling Physician's Court Action Will be Heard Dec. 12

Hearing of a garnishment action, the outcome of a concert presented in the Sterling Coliseum Sunday, Nov. 23 by Miss Mildred Wallace, soprano Jascha Rushkin, violinist, and fifteen members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, which was heard by a number of Dixonites, has been continued in the court of Justice of the Peace R. W. E. McNeill of Sterling to Dec. 12 at 10 A. M.

On Saturday, the day before the concert was presented, a garnishment notice was served on officers of the Mendelssohn club, which sponsored the concert. The action was brought by Dr. Franklin Rubright, Sterling physician, against Jascha Selwitz, formerly of Sterling, who adopted the professional name of Jascha Rushkin. The physician charged Selwitz owed him $240.
An interpleader was entered by Miss Wallace who in private life is the wife of Jascha Rushkin, claiming that the money for the concert was due her and not Rushkin. She later withdrew her appearance in court, however.

According to officials of the Mendelssohn club, enough money was raised at the concert to pay the artists and to net a fair amount for the club but the garnishment action held it payment of the artists.

You may worry and thrill alternately with the charming and genuine Anne, in her struggle with a country store, a village prejudice and her own stubborn pride. The W. C. T. U. of Franklin Grove will meet Friday, Dec. 6 at 2 P. M. with Mrs. Henry Hicks. Roll call is "How May I help Keep Christ in Christmas?" A vocal duet will be rendered by Mrs. J. E. and Mrs. Ira Buck. On original Christmas story will be given by Mrs. Paul Studebaker. Every member is urged to be present. A brief explanation of the roll call may help you in preparation for this meeting. Christmas is the birthday of Jesus. The God of commercialism and greed declares it is the birthday of Santa Claus. The Christian will write Christmas on greetings instead of Xmas. They will also exemplify the Christlike spirit in seeking to give, to share and to radiate peace and good will.

What can you do this holiday season to help keep Christ in Christmas.

Brethren Church Notes
Do you like the great old church hymns? A very interesting program will be presented this Sunday evening when ten of the world's greatest hymns will be presented by stereopticon pictures. Recently a vote from thousands of people was taken asking them to give their selection of the ten greatest hymns. These votes were tabulated and the highest selected. Which do you think are the greatest? Each hymn will be illustrated by several beautiful slides. Also, pictures of the author and something about the hymn.
